TAKES HIS OWN LIFE WHILE OUT HUNTING

Marion Zetrouer of Rochelle Used Single-Barrel Shot Gun Near His Own Home.

News reached this city late Friday night to the effect that Marion Zetrouer, a young man about sixteen years of age, had been shot near his home at Rochelle.

Investigation Saturday revealed the fact that the young man took his own life, using a single-barrel shotgun to perform the deed, but no cause could be ascribed for the act. He had left the house to go out hunting, so he informed his people, and when night came his brother went to look for him, he having failed to come back, and found him dead only a short distance from the house, his body still being warm.

Howard Beckham, on learning of the affair, empanelled a jury of inquest, viewed the remains and decided that the lad had come to his death by his own hands, the act being premeditated.

A single-barrel shotgun was all that he carried with him, and the fact that the left side of his face was all shot away indicates that he failed in his first attempt to kill himself, and the second shot, which completely blew his head off, indicated that the gun had been placed at close range to his right temple.

Friends of the family state that he had no cause to commit such an act, and they knew nothing of his intentions until his body was found. He was at liberty to go and come, and do generally as he pleased, but owing to sickness he had never been considered overly bright.

The funeral services were held at the home and the remains laid to rest in the family burying ground at Oak Ridge, near the home, Saturday afternoon.

Pensacola harbor has fared well in the river and harbor bill, according to reports from Washington. A bill containing an appropriation of $110,000 for improving Pensacola harbor has been passed by Congress. An octopus, measuring four feet across, was picked up in the bay this morning by Mr. Pope and placed on exhibition in front of Thayer's curio store, where it attracted a crowd of tourists. The cold water had chilled it and it was easily picked up with the hand. They will grow to sixteen or eighteen feet stretched out, although that is an unusual size. Eight feet is an average size for these waters.—St. Petersburg Independent.

While placing a chandelier in position in the Court Pharmacy in Ocala Thursday afternoon J. A. McKenzie came in contact with a live wire which pulled him from the step ladder on which he was standing and when the current was turned off let him drop into one of the largest show cases, causing a deep gash back of his right ear and several cuts on his face and hands. Dr. Powers was summoned and dressed the injured man's wounds, which were not serious. The handsome case had just been stocked with toilet articles of all descriptions, many of which were damaged to considerable extent. The loss including the plate glass top and shelves will amount to $100. At the time of the accident the store was well filled and caused considerable excitement.

FLORIDA LEADS ALL IN NAVAL STORES

Georgia is Second and Alabama Third in the Great Industry, While Texas Comes Last.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Of the eight Southern States, each producing more than 200,000 gallons of turpentine and 25,000 barrels of rosin, Florida leads the list with 17,030,300 gallons of turpentine in 1908 against 15,572,700 gallons in 1907, and 1,932,114 barrels of rosin in 1908 against 1,774,370 barrels in 1907.

The production of more than 36,500,000 gallons of turpentine and more than 4,000,000 barrels of rosin, with a valuation of more than $14,000,000 for the turpentine and nearly $18,000,000 for the rosin, summarizes the output of the whole naval stores industry for 1908, according to the preliminary report of the United States Forest Service just completed. The study was provided for in a special appropriation of $10,000 by Congress and the report contains the most complete and accurate statistics ever gathered for the naval stores industry in this country and covers the production for both 1907 and 1908, giving comparative figures for the two years.

Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Texas follow Florida in the order named. Comparative report of the production by States is as follows:

	—1908—		—1907—
States.	Turpentine Gallons.	Rosin Barrels.	Turpentine Gallons.	Rosin Barrels.
Florida	17,030,300	1,932,114	15,572,700	1,774,370
Georgia	10,347,800	1,203,059	10,119,500	1,173,373
Alabama	3,744,050	446,909	3,544,300	418,698
Mississippi	2,277,850	277,704	2,232,500	256,307
Louisiana	1,696,250	195,804	1,134,100	126,540
North Carolina	732,300	131,907	916,400	161,323
South Carolina	559,800	72,125	588,950	75,687
Texas	200,650	28,661	74,350	7,600
Total	36,589,000	4,288,283	34,180,800	3,999,223

While these figures show an increase of 2,408,200 gallons of turpentine and 288,962 barrels of rosin for 1908 over 1907, there was a marked decrease in the value of the produce for 1908 as compared with the preceding year. This was due to the great decrease in the prevailing prices for turpentine for 1908 and the slight decrease in the prevailing prices for rosin during the same year. The value of the product for the two years follow:

Turpentine, 1908, $14,112,377.33; 1907, $18,283,309.93; rosin, 1908, $17,783,509.61; 1907, $17,317,059,93; a difference in the value of the combined output of $3,704,482.93 in favor of 1907.

The figures used in determining the value of turpentine and rosin for the two years are based on the market quotations at Savannah, the recognized naval stores market of the United States. The average price received for turpentine manufactured in 1908 was $0.3857 per gallon, and in 1907 was $0.5349 per gallon. The average price received for rosin in 1908 was $4.14 per barrel and in 1907 was $4.33 per barrel.

The number of operations for the two years were distributed among the eight States as follows:

States.	1908	1907
Alabama	192	185
Florida	633	595
Georgia	666	643
Louisiana	25	22
Mississippi	94	93
North Carolina	41	41
South Carolina	37	39
Texas	8	4
Total	1,696	1,623

The increase in production for 1908 over 1907 was due to more favorable weather and labor conditions than to increased operations. But few operators increased their operations, owing to the disorganized condition of the market at the time operations commenced. Figures upon which the report of production for the two years is based were secured by a system of correspondence and personal visits to the points of production by agents of the Forest Service.

Farewell Tea for Mrs. Bergstrom.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Dickson Hamilton Tharin entertained delightfully at her home in honor of Mrs. Andrew Bergstrom of Atlanta.

At 5 o'clock guests began to arrive, happy at the thought of a pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Tharin, who has made many friends during her short term of residence in Gainesville and gained an enviable reputation as a charming hostess.

Mrs. Bergstrom received informally with Mrs. Tharin, and was charming in a handsome gown of pink embroidered mull. This attractive Atlanta favorite has quite captivated Gainesville and it was with reluctance that her new friends bade her adieu. During her stay with Mrs. McCollum she has been the recipient of many social attentions, Mrs. Tharin's beautiful farewell party being one of the most delightful occasions where Mrs. Bergstrom was the honored guest. Mrs. Tharin entertained her guests informally and much wit and social chat were indulged in by all.

Mrs. Anita Hendricks Spence of New York, who is the charming guest of Mrs. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., added much to the occasion by reciting several beautiful numbers, also regaling her friends with a selection of negro dialect. She has been very much admired in Gainesville and is quite at home in her art of elocution.

The assembly was also treated to a selection by Mrs. T. W. Pitts—a very charming French number. Mrs. Pitts' talents are very much appreciated in Gainesville, particularly her beautiful French accent.

At 6 o'clock the guests were all invited to the living-room and dining-room, where everything was beautiful in a color scheme of pink. The flowers were something very new and rare—pink-bud—a tree variety that is exceptionally pretty and blended beautifully with the pink-shaded candles.

The guests were served at small tables, with the exception of Mesdames Tharin, Bergstrom, McKinstry, Spence, McCollum, Goodman, Mrs. Allen Haile and Mrs. Sam Dell, who were served at the dining-table, which was artistically decorated with a center-piece of maiden-hair fern and pink-shaded candles.

A delightful menu was served, consisting of a first course of grapefruit, followed by a beautiful plate containing roast quail, English peas, hot beaten biscuit, guava jelly, and tomatoes with mayonaise dressing, garnished with lettuce. Following this, delicious stuffed figs were served, which were a novel feature of the menu and were much enjoyed. This elegant repast was completed by hot chocolate, served New Orleans style, with an accompaniment of French be ze.

The quail for this occasion were furnished by Mr. Dickson H. Tharin, who is one of the best sportsmen in this section. He never fails to be successful on a hunting trip.

After more friendly chat and merriment the guests reluctantly departed, bidding Mrs. Bergstrom a regretful good-bye, and thanking Mrs. Tharin for a delightful afternoon. The guest list included Mesdames Andrew Bergstrom, J. W. McCollum, J. F. McKinstry, Jr., Anita Spence, LaFontisee, T. B. Stringfellow, S. A. Ledbetter, W. B. Taylor, Ben K. Thrower, Frankie Dell, Coffee of Atlanta, Allen Haile, J. B. Dell, Vic McKinstry, Starke, Sam Davis, Jack Haile, J. M. Dell, J. A. Goodwin, John Chesnut, Sidney Robertson, B. F. Hampton, William Chesnut, Medlin, John Taylor, Tench, L. J. Burkhim and guest, T. W. Pitts, C. W. Sprouell, Jordan, W. W. Hampton, C. F. Goodman, Joe Manasse, A. W. Taylor, Sam T. Dell, Kenneth Grieve, Joe Ettel, Evans Haile, Jordan, Henry Benson, McMillan, and Misses Ida Burkhim, Margaret Belle Taylor, Curtis Pitts and Allie Taylor. Mrs. Tharin was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Allen Haile, Miss Curtis Pitts and her charming little daughter, Kathleen Emmet Tharin.

Overfatness Condemned.

Fat, or even fattish, women readers who want to be in the mode this year must understand that the demand is for lines, not curves, and govern themselves accordingly.

That means OFF with the fat. It has become a duty. Many are trying exercises or dieting; but it is certain they will find these methods too slow and unreliable. The cheapest and safest way to get in form for the Directoire mode is by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. Any druggist (or the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich.) will give you a large-sized case of these elegant little fat reducers, containing a good, generous supply, for seventy-five cents, and even this quantity should be enough to make a decided impression on your excess fat. Many have lost as much as a pound a day.

These Marmola Prescription Tablets may be used with impunity and likewise perfect confidence, for, being made strictly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, they are, of course, quite harmless, in fact, never disturbing the stomach or causing a wrinkling of the flesh.

AMUSEMENTS

The Christine Giles Co.

Through the kindness of those in charge of the Tabernacle, we are permitted to announce that the concert of the Christine Giles Recital Company will be given in the Tabernacle Tuesday night. The Tabernacle is more accessible and better lighted, hence the change.

This concert will be one of the most delightful entertainments of the season.

Requires Concerted Action.

If the music-loving people of Gainesville wish to avail themselves of the offer of Madame Calve, the great singer, to visit the city during next week, they will have to take concerted action by signing the ticket list at Miller & Vidal's store tomorrow.

Only about a dozen signed the list Saturday, therefore if we expect to secure the date from the great singer, the list will have to be more generally signed Monday.

Remember, tomorrow is the last day upon which to subscribe for seats.

Electric Theatre.

Tomorrow will be Monday and at night John Ennor, the world palace-car traveler, will appear for the first time in Gainesville at the Electric Theatre. He fully illustrates his travelogues with the most beautiful scenic effects ever produced on canvas. Mr. Ennor has for the past week been in St. Augustine speaking before crowded houses every night. From the Golden Gate and the Great Salt Lake regions he carries you to the utmost parts of the world, continually educating you in things never dreampt of and illustrating everything as he proceeds. No change in price of admission. Ten cents pays for all.

"In Arizona."

The announcement of the coming to Gainesville on next Tuursday, March 11th, of the famous Western play, "In Arizona," will be favorably received by theatre patrons who appreciate a distinction in amusement without the extra cost usually attached. In the forthcoming production the manager boasts not only of the fact that he is presenting this splendid play for the first time to the smaller cities and towns, but that "In Arizona's" large pavilion theatre affords an environment scenically correct and a seating capacity so unlimited as to justify the popular prices of thirty-five cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children.

"In Arizona" is not a dramatization of the blood and thunder type, but an historic narrative of pioneer life in the great West, sweetened with romance, softened with pathos, and enlivened throughout with brilliant bits of clever comedy. And aside from its merits as a literary gem, from point of dramatic construction it has no peer. The production at hand is presented by a company of thirty-people, including a first-class orchestra and a cow boy band which will be heard in two free concerts on the streets at noon and evening on date of performance.

Carving a Hippopotamus.

To cut up a hippopotamus is no easy task. In some places the hide is almost two and a half inches thick, and before you have got through a hand's breadth your knife has completely lost its edge and requires to be resharpened. The head and the feet are put on one side to be preserved as trophies of the chase, while the remainder of the flesh is cut into long, thin strips, which, after they have been dried by hanging them on the tree branches, will keep good for a very long time. The ivory of the teeth and tusks, which is of very fine quality, used to be employed almost exclusively in the manufacture of false teeth. Nowadays, says the Wide World Magazine, it is turned to all the purposes of ordinary ivory. As for the hide, cut into strips it is made into sticks, which are as good defensive weapons as one could wish to possess. Treated with oil, they become transparent as tortoise shell and look quite pretty. Out of hippopotamus hide bullock drivers likewise make thongs for their whips which are positively everlasting and fetch relatively speaking quite a good price.

A Religious Author's Statement.

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Recognized Their Old Friend.

The late Sir John Steell, who was sculptor to Queen Victoria, was modeling a bust of Miss Nightingale when an officer of one of the highland regiments which had suffered so cruelly in the Crimea heard that the bust had just been completed and was in Sir John's studio. Many of the men in his company had passed through the hospital at Scutari, and he obtained permission from the sculptor to bring some of them to see it. Accordingly a squad of men one day marched into the studio and stood in line. They had no idea why they had been mustered in so strange a place. Without a word of warning the bust was uncovered, and then, as by one impulse, the men broke rank and with cries of "Miss Nightingale, Miss Nightingale!" surrounded the model and, with hats off, cheered the figure of their devoted nurse until the roof rang. So spontaneous and hearty and so inspiring was the whole scene that in after days Sir John Steell declared it to be the greatest compliment of his life.

Prof. H. A. Howell, of Havana, Cuba, Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"As long ago as I can remember my mother was a faithful user and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but never in my life have I realized its true value until now," writes Prof. H. A. Howell, of Howell's American School, Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 3rd our baby was taken sick with a very severe cold; the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. Even then his breathing was difficult. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and it afforded prompt relief, and now three days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that only, saved the life of our dear little boy." For sale by all druggists.

A Lost Fee.

The Right Hon. Augustine Birrell once believed that he had been smitten with a mortal disease and went to consult a distinguished doctor who lived in the neighborhood of Harley street and who was a great expert on the disease of which he thought he was a victim. It was a hot day in July, and as he walked from his London home, which was in the neighborhood of Addison road, to Harley street he perspired freely.

He found the great physician's rooms all crowded with patients—probably, he thought, suffering from a similar complaint to himself.

While waiting he found on the table a book written by the great physician on the subject of the particular disease. He opened the book, and the first words which caught his eye were these: "The patient who is suffering from this disease never perspires."

He had Scotch blood in his veins, so he picked up his hat and gloves and walked out, and he never saw that eminent physician.—London Scraps.

JOHANN'S COURTING.

One of the Royal Romances of the Hapsburgs.

More than one royal romance has occurred in the family of the Hapsburgs. The best of all, perhaps, is that of the Archduke Johann, brother of the Emperor Francis I. One day he was traveling incognito when he arrived in a village where he desired to take a coach for Vienna. He looked around to hire a carriage, for which, having been obtained, he sought a driver. At length a lad was brought to him.

"Your name?" queried the archduke.

"Johann, sir," answered the lad.

The archduke was cute. He had seen at a glance that this was no boy before him, but a girl disguised.

"What do you call yourself when you are at home helping your mother in the kitchen?" he asked, smiling.

"Anna Plochl," she answered. "And what is your name?"

"Johann too. I am an archduke."

"I suppose you will say that you are the emperor himself next?" she laughed back at him. Then she drove his carriage into Vienna.

Here, behold, the people saluted, and she made inquiries, thus finding out the real facts. But she thought little more of the matter until a month later the archduke strode into her father's cottage just at the dinner hour and asked permission to join the family gathering. The girl began apologies, but the archduke laughed them aside and insisted on being called plain "Johann."

The visit was repeated again and again, and at last the villagers began to talk—unkindly. Anna at last asked the archduke to come no more because of the gossip. That settled it. He asked her to marry him, and, despite the objections of the emperor, the two were married. Later the girl, once daughter of a jobmaster, was created baroness and countess and at last forgiven by the emperor.—Philadelphia Ledger.

QUENTIN METYS.

How Love Changed a Great Blacksmith Into a Great Painter.

Love made Quentin Metys a painter. This great Fleming, whom both Antwerp and Louvain claim to have given birth, though the palm now rests with Louvain, was the son of an able blacksmith. Trained in his father's craft, the younger Quentin soon distinguished himself by his work in this base metal and among other matters turned out the wonderfully delicate ironwork that surmounts the well outside the Cathedral of Antwerp. Already an acknowledged master of his guild, it came about, writes Helen Zimmern in the Metropolitan Magazine, that the young artisan fell in love with the daughter of a rich Antwerp burgher. When asked to consent to a marriage, however, the father would not hear of it, saying he could not let his daughter wed a blacksmith. Quentin next inquired if he would feel the same objection to a painter? The good burgher, who anticipated no change of craft on the questioner's part, replied that there, indeed, was a more refined profession. What was his surprise and perhaps secret dismay when some months later Quentin Metys reappeared and asked for the fulfillment of the old burgher's promise. He had, indeed, become a painter and one already held in high esteem. To commemorate his love and his serving on her account Metys limned an "auto-portrait" that now hangs in the Uffizi, at Florence. Those acquainted with the secret know that if they touch a little spring in this frame the panel opens like a door, and behind the shelter of Metys' own portrait is concealed that of his love and wife, a sweet Dutch face for whom doubtless he deemed it well worth his while to have played the part of the patriarch Jacob.

THE COBRA STONE.

A Ceylon Story About the Reptile and Its Shining Lure.

Every one knows that Ceylon is famous for the amount of queer and rare precious stones found in the sands of its dried up river beds. Among these is one called "chlorophane," a rare variety of fluor spar, which shines at night with phosphorescent light. There has long been a tradition among the natives that a certain species of cobra makes use of this stone to attract insects in the darkness. Indeed, the name given it is "naja-kaller," or cobra stone. A scientist resolved to test this wonderful story during a stay in the island, so offered any cooly 5 rupees to point out a stone carrying cobra. In about a week an old Tamil came in and offered to show him one. He followed this guide, and, sure enough, there, under an immense tamarind tree, he saw a little point of steady greenish light and could faintly distinguish behind a cobra coiled and slowly waving its head from side to side. It would have been desperately dangerous to approach the reptile, and the cooly begged him not to do so, saying that next night he would himself get the stone. He did so, and in rather clever fashion. Before dark he climbed into the tree, carrying a large bag of ashes. After nightfall the cobra turned up, as usual, and deposited its treasure, which it carried in its mouth, before it. Thereupon the cooly emptied his bag of ashes over the shining object, and the frightened reptile after a wild but fruitless search crept back into the jungle. The cooly descended, searched the ashes, found the stone and received his promised reward.—London Telegraph.

Scotland's Patron Saint.

Why was St. Andrew chosen as the patron saint of Scotland? This question has been asked many times, but the archdeacon of whom Dean Hole tells may be considered to have discovered the most satisfactory solution of the problem. "Gentlemen," said he (he was speaking at a St. Andrew's day banquet at the time), "I have given this difficult subject my thoughtful consideration, and I have come to the conclusion that St. Andrew was chosen to be the patron saint of Scotland because he discovered the lad who had the loaves and fishes."—Dundee Advertiser.

A SUNDAY STROLL.

This Recreation Was at One Time Unlawful In Maine.

Something of the exact behavior demanded from young people by those in authority in the early days of the nineteenth century is brought to notice in the biography of Peter Edes, a pioneer printer in Maine. Mr. Edes had an appentrice, James Orrock, who enjoyed a walk on Sunday after a week of indoor employment.

Mr. Edes soon found out that this was not permitted at Bangor and wrote to a friend of the trouble caused him by his apprentice's apparently innocent amusement.

"You must know," he writes, "that the people are very strict on this day and will not let men walk out, much less boys. James was strolling about and was ordered home by the tything men, but he would not obey them. A complaint was lodged against me on the next day, and I should have been obliged to pay a fine had not Judge Dutton pleaded in my behalf that I did not approve of such conduct and so got clear."

Another interesting incident in connection with life in Bangor at this time is an advertisement which appeared in Mr. Edes' paper, the Bangor Weekly Register, stating that "E. & M. R. Edes have opened a school in the room over the Register office for the instruction of young misses and small children in the useful and ornamental branches of education."

The terms were: "Orthography and plain work, 17 cents per week; writing, English grammar, geography with the use of maps, composition, ornamental needlework, 25 cents per week." This was probably one of the first schools in Maine for teaching young ladies exclusively in the branches of education and also including plain work and fancy needlework.

A Friend In a Fog.

"In one of the worst London fogs," said an Englishman, "an old friend of mine tried to find his way from Trafalgar square to the Savoy, where he had an engagement to dine.

"The sulphurous air made the eyes smart and the head ache, and it brought on terrific fits of coughing. You could not literally see your hand before your face. There was a continual crashing in of windows, bells jangled, vehicles and foot passengers collided, and shrieks and oaths arose.

"Threading his way in the midst of this pandemonium through the Strand, as he supposed, from Landseer's lions to the waiting dinner at the Savoy, my old friend, to his great bewilderment, soon found himself descending a broad stairway. He put his hand to the balustrade. Yes, a broad and stately stairway with a rail of carved stone. Amazing!

"Suddenly in his descent my friend collided with some one ascending the stairway.

"'Hello!' he said.

"'Hello!' a gruff male voice replied.

"'Can you tell me,' said my friend, 'where I am going?'

"'Certainly,' said the other. 'If you keep straight on you will walk into the Thames, for I've just come out of it.'"

S.S.S. REMOVES THE CAUSE OF CATARRH

No remedy that does not entirely remove the cause of Catarrh from the blood will ever make a permanent cure of the trouble. Just as long as the circulation remains contaminated with the impurities and catarrhal matters which produce the trouble, the mucous membranes or inner linings of the body will be kept in a state of irritation and disease. Sprays, lotions and other local applications will sometimes temporarily relieve the tight, full feeling in the head, buzzing noises in the ears, uncomfortable, stuffy feeling of the nostrils, and help to loosen the mucus in the throat; but Catarrh is a constitutional blood disorder and until it has been entirely driven from the system there can be no permanent cure. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by removing the cause from the blood. It attacks the disease at its head and by thoroughly purifying and cleansing the circulation, and ridding it of every particle of impurity, and at the same time enriching the blood, allows the inflamed and irritated membranes to heal, improves the general health, and stops every disagreeable symptom. S. S. S. reaches down to the very bottom and leaves no trace of the disease in the system. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

Those editors who a few weeks ago were claiming that Senator Hudson of the thirteenth district had a walkover in his race for President of the Senate are now admitting that the contest between him and Senator Humphries is exceedingly close. Both are good and capable men and either of them would fill the position with credit to themselves and honor to their constituents.

The temperance people want a law passed prohibiting the shipment of liquor from wet counties to dry territory. In our humble opinion this would result in many of the counties that are now dry voting back the saloon, which few of us want in Alachua county. If the prohibition amendment is submitted to the people the temperance people had better let the other proposition alone until after the next general election.

THE PISTOL TOTER.

The following article on the evil of carrying concealed weapons is taken from the February number of Uncle Remus—the Home Magazine—and is from the pen of Don Marquis:

"There is too much 'pistol toting' and too much palliation of 'pistol toting' all through the South. The mere possession of a deadly concealed weapon has a certain psychological effect upon the most conservative of temperaments. Upon even a stranger the 'feel' of a pistol is likely to breed the desire to use the pistol.

"In most human beings, with average advantages and average education, this desire to feel that one can kill if one chooses—this cheap love of the spectacular—passes away rather early in life; or is reserved for a more legitimate and recognized exercise on the side of law and order, or in war time, or in some dangerous calling. But the tough nature does not care whether it is exercised on the side of recognized authority or not, it is simply its exercise that such a nature desires. He wants to see himself in a heroic attitude.

"I have no doubt that many of the night riders went into the thing just because it gave them an opportunity to ride around the country at night, in a silly masquerade with guns in their hands, and in their egotistic hearts that satisfying feeling that they belonged to a band that runs things.

"If the young men in the rural communities, and even in some of the larger towns throughout the South, cannot be convinced that habitually to carry a pistol—unless upon occasions when one is really needed—is a foolish thing to do, they can at least be convinced that it is an expensive habit. The laws against carrying concealed weapons are good enough, all that is needed is their general enforcement by the proper authorities.

"Duelling has been frowned on in this country for several decades, but it would be better than such street killings as that of Carmack, in Nashville, or that of Gonzales, in Columbia, a few years ago. In a duel each participant at least has something like an equal chance, but when the 'pistol toter' goes after his man it is not with the idea of giving him a chance for his life.

"If men of influence and a certain degree of prominence, like the Coopers in Tennessee, and the Tillmans of South Carolina, 'tote' deadly weapons with which to settle their personal difficulies, if these men of a class who are supposed to have had certain educational advantages are 'pistol toters,' how then are the inhabitants of the Reelfoot Lake district, the Kentucky and Tennessee and Georgia mountaineers, and the youths of the narrow inland villages all throughout the South, who are lacking in opportunities and position, to be taught the lesson that 'pistol toting' is a vain, foolish, criminal and contemptible habit?"

Col. Bryan now talks as if he would again like to run for President. Really, we think it is about time for him to practice riding his trick mule and give the Democratic party a rest. He will not again have the Solid South back of him either in convention or at the polls. The immense vote Taft received in Georgia at the last election showed that the delegates from that State represented their constituents in opposing Bryan for the nomination. He no doubt received as many, if not more electoral votes than any other Democratic candidate would have received at the last election, but the people who compose the masses of the party will not again blindly follow his leadership, and he may as well make up his mind that he will not be President of the United States. He would undoubtedly make a good chief magistrate of the nation, but a majority of the people are afraid to trust him in that high office.

About the most bitter person against Dr. Cline, who recently married one of Gainesville's fairest and sweetest school girls and then left with her for parts unknown, after serious charges being preferred against him by people in other States where he had resided, is one of his own race. If Cline really had another wife when he took this girl as his wife no punishment is too severe for him. For her sake we trust that he has no other wife and that he will prove a good husband to her. But if he was not a bigamist, why did he leave Gainesville so suddenly? He was doing a good business here and could have made a name for himself which would have wiped out all recollection of the other charges against him.

Alachua county has several miles of hard surface roads which are a credit to the people of this section, but we need more of them. Two hundred miles of hard roads in this county would do more than anything else to enhance the value of farm lands and attract new settlers. We need more people to cultivate our waste lands, and the surest way of attracting them here is to construct hard roads. Let's get busy along this line.

Those aspirants for Frank Clark's seat in Congress may as well make up their minds to wait a few years. The people of the second district are going to keep him in Congress just about as long as he desires to stay there. He is too able a representative and true friend to the masses for the people to displace with a man who will have to demonstrate his ability to fill his shoes.

SIZES OF BOOKS.

Meaning of the Terms Folio, Quarto, Octavo and Duodecimo.

The words "folio," "quarto," "octavo," "duodecimo" and the like have almost, if not quite, lost their original meaning. At first they had reference solely to the number of leaves into which the sheets used in making the book were folded. Thus if these sheets were folded once the book was called a folio; if the sheets were folded twice, so as to form four leaves, the book was called a quarto; if they were folded four times, so as to form eight leaves, the book was called an octavo, and so on.

The duodecimo, or 12mo, is an irregular size. To make it the sheet must be folded so as to form twelve leaves. Fold one-third of the width of a sheet lengthwise on itself. Next fold the paper across its breadth in the center. Next fold the sheet across its length—that is, fold the two leaves into the four. Finally fold it again across and in such shape that it may easily be sewed in with others to form a book.

But though, strictly and historically, quarto, octavo, etc., have reference solely to the manner of folding the sheet, they are, as a matter of common practice, used to specify the sizes of books.

If the sheets on which books are printed were of uniform size a quarto page would be as unvarying an area as a square foot or an acre, and before the invention of machines for making paper there was such uniformity to be found in the sizes of sheets.

But when paper making machines were introduced and the use of molds was abandoned sheets came to be made of all dimensions. As a result quartos and octavos had all sorts of dimensions, and the terms, when used strictly to indicate how the sheet was folded, became worthless as designations of size. The use of the old terms was nevertheless not abandoned, but instead they were first used to indicate a rather wide range of sizes and finally were attached to certain more definite sizes, without reference to the method of folding.

The practice of the publisher nowadays is first to determine what size page he wants. The sheet he uses will be large or small, according to the capacity of the press at his disposal. On that sheet he may print, say, eight octavo pages, or he may print thirty-two, but he will call the book an octavo, though by its folding it should be called either a quarto or a 16mo. In other words, the publisher calls the book by the name of that one of the old sizes to which it happens to be nearest.

The confusion resulting from the changes noticed here has not passed away yet, but efforts have been made to give definiteness to the old words.—New York Tribune.

THE FOREIGN LEGION.

A Peculiar Body of Fighters in the French Army.

The French foreign legion is a heterogeneous organization. It is composed of disappointed men of every country—political refugees, military fugitives. In fact, all varieties of the world's restless citizens go to make up this wonderful mongrel fighting machine. "No questions asked" might well be the regimental motto. Each man signing his bond of service sells his soul for five years at the wage of 1 sou (about 1 cent) per day.

The officers are French, but the men hail from everywhere and nowhere. Under various names the French legion has existed since the eighteenth century and was finally constituted as at present in 1830. It consists of twelve battalions divided into two regiments, mustering a total strength of 12,000 men. Eight thousand are kept in the far east, the remainder serving in northern Africa. In the early days the regiments were divided into "national sections," men from the same country being kept together.

This resulted, however, in continual racial disputes, and each company consequently was given a cosmopolitan composition. Since its formation the officials have guarded closely against desertions, and as the legion only serves in French colonial territory where the centers are remote and transportation is difficult a successful desertion is a rare feat.—Chicago News.

A Dickens Manuscript.

H. F. Dickens, K. C., tells an interesting story concerning the original manuscript of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old schoolfellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for £50. Then it passed into the hands of George Churchill, an enthusiastic autograph collector. Mr. Churchill treasured it until 1882, when circumstances compelled him to part with it. After photographing every page of it, it was sold to Mr. Bennett, a Birmingham bookseller and curio dealer, who eventually found a purchaser, who readily signed a check for £200 for it. Finally it was bought by Stuart M. Samuel of Kensington Palace Gardens for £300, who is said to still retain the precious document.—London Tit-Bits.

A Slight Misunderstanding.

Little Helen Bentley of Los Angeles, aged five, dearly loves her grandma, who has been living with her and her parents. Recently grandma went to Seattle for a visit and caught cold on the way. When she arrived there, she wrote back to Helen's parents that she had reached Seattle, but had had a hard fight with the grip. Helen wanted to hear what grandma had to say, and the letter was read to her. Soon afterward she saw one of her neighbors and exclaimed: "Oh, Mrs. Smith, we've had a letter from grandma. She got to Seattle all right, but she had a terrible fight with her valise!"—Los Angeles Times.

What Counts In a Story.

As I heard a famous raconteur telling a story I had heard in one form or another for many years I could not but recall the statement of some one to the effect that there are but five stories extant and that all we have are merely variations from the original five. As General Taylor, who is something of a story teler himself, puts it: "The story doesn't amount to anything. It's the edition that counts."—Boston Herald.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 6

If It Fits You Wear This Cap

By Herbert Kaufman

Advertising isn't a crucible with which lazy, bigoted and incapable merchants can turn incompetency into success—but one into which brains and tenacity and courage can be poured and changed into dollars. It is only a short cut across the fields—not a moving platform. You can't "get there" without "going some."

It's a game in which the worker—not the shirker—gets rich.

By its measurement every man stands for what he is and for what he does, not for what he was and what he did.

Every day in the advertising world is another day and has to be taken care of with the same energy as it's yesterday.

The quitter can't survive where the plugger has a ghost of a chance.

Advertising doesn't take the place of business talent or business management. It simply tells what the business is and how it is managed. The snob whose father created and who is content to live on what was handed to him can't stand up against the man who knows he must build for himself.

What makes you think that you are entitled to prosper as well as a competitor who works twice as hard for his prosperity?

Why should as many people come to your store as patronize a shop that makes an endeavor to get their trade and shows them that it is worth while to come to its doors?

Why should a newspaper send as many customers to you in half the time it took to fill an establishment which advertised twice as long and paid twice as much for its publicity?

This is the day when the best man wins—after he proves that he is the best man—when the best store wins, when it has shown that it is the best store—when the best goods win, after they've been demonstrated to be the best goods.

If you want the plum you can't get it by lying under the tree with your mouth open waiting for it to drop—too many other men are willing to climb out on the limb and risk their necks in their eagerness to get it away from you.

It is a man's game—this advertising—just hanging on and tugging and straining all the time to get and keep ahead. It is the finite expression of the law of competition which sits in blind-folded justice over the markets of the world.

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today.

The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocketbook—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

ETIQUETTE.

An Old Fashioned Man Frees His Mind About Its Absurdities.

"Whether to eat fish with a fish knife and fork or a fork and a bit of bread, whether to serve champagne in a tumbler or a goblet—it is quite absurd to regard one of these courses as right and the other as wrong and to admire or despise a person accordingly. The average rule of etiquette has nothing to do with courtesy, with good breeding, and it is no criterion of courtesy or of good breeding."

The speaker, an old fashioned gentleman from the country, knotted the ends of his napkin more firmly about his neck.

"Smile at me, nephews and nieces," he resumed, "because I tuck my napkin under my chin. Yet why should I spoil my black broadcloth coat with turkey stains or smears of cranberry sauce? It is a rule of etiquette, you say, that the napkin may only be placed across the knee—an absurd, ephemeral rule!

"It was a rule of etiquette in France during the reign of 'Le Roi Soleil,' the great Louis XIV., that when the king visited a sick subject the king, too, must lie down in a bed, on the ground that it would never do for a subject to maintain a more informal attitude than his master during the audience. Louis XIV., visiting the Marshal de Villars after Malplaquet, lay in a bed beside the suffering soldier in that way.

"Behold the absurdities of etiquette and let me do with my napkin what I please."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from a female weakness and disease, and I could not stand more than a minute at a time. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. One day I was reading how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured."—LENA V. HENRY, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

Effect of Colors on Animals.

The effect of color upon mind is most easily noticeable in dumb animals, because they make no effort to curb or control their emotions. Wave a red flag at a bull and he becomes violently angry. Shake a red shawl in front of a turkey gobbler and he will storm around fearfully. I made an experiment in the country one summer to see if this same fact held true of other animals. On my farm I had an enormously fat, lazy pig that disliked nothing so much as to move. All day long it used to lie asleep in the sunshine, and sometimes even the attraction of food could not budge it. I took a number of pieces of silk of the same quality, but of different shades, and, after waking the pig, waved each strip of silk in front of it. For the blue and green it never moved, but when I waved the red and orange strips it jumped to its feet, stamped about and appeared to be thoroughly angry. Time and again I repeated this experiment and always with the same result.—Frank Alvah Parsons in Good Housekeeping.

Lovers

Of good health should prevent sickness instead of letting themselves get sick and then try to cure it. So long as you keep your liver, bowels and stomach in a healthy and active condition you won't get sick. Ballard's Herbine relieves constipation, inactive liver and all stomach and bowel troubles. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Hard to Kill.

A distinguished entomologist, J. C. Warburg, writes: "When I was still new to collecting, in the south of France I discovered one day, to my great joy, a large female of Saturnia pyri hidden away in some bushes. The specimen was the first I had ever caught, and I decided, on account of its large body, to stuff it (a quite unnecessary operation; I have kept dozens since unstuffed). The moth was first apparently killed by being forced into a cyanide bottle, where it was left about an hour. The abdomen was then emptied and the cavity filled with cotton wool soaked in a saturated solution of mercuric chloride. The insect, pinned and set, was discovered next day attempting to fly away from the setting board."

Wanted Papa to Enjoy It.

Francis, aged four and a half, had annoyed his father until that individual finally lost patience. He was trying to do some varnishing. Thinking to get rid of him for a few minutes, he said, "Hurry, son, to the window and watch the parade." The lad ran to the window and climbed upon a chair, while the father smiled at the success of his little lie.

The smile was still on his face when a tug at his coat and a "Hurry, papa, quick!" caused him to start toward the window. "What is the matter?" he asked.

"Come and see the elephant in the parade!"—Delineator.

Yet They Needed Exercise.

Two men whose offices were on the second floor were on the first floor waiting for an elevator. Long and impatiently they waited.

"Me too."

Still they waited for the elevator.—Kansas City Times.

University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops; in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat, "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what
